The Learning Pit

BOOK NOW to see globally acclaimed James Nottingham in S.A!

James Nottingham is an educational leader, author and entrepreneur who developed The Learning Pit model to help students through the process and stages of engaging with stretching challenges. He has been featured in a BBC documentary about Philosophy for Children, acclaimed as a Future 500 forward-thinker, and is an ICOT (International Conference on Thinking) Presenter. Having started his career teaching hearing-impaired children and having been a teacher himself, he understands the need for practical classroom strategies.

This TSSA Roadshow is for teachers, leaders and support staff who wish to guide their students through deeper critical, creative and collaborative learning as they stretch out of their comfort zone. We will learn practical strategies that provide learners with a language to think and talk about learning as they transition through the stages and processes of working through challenges. This takes The Growth Mindset to the next level, helping build teacher and student resilience, wisdom and self-efficacy. You will come away with a structure for learning that can improve teacher clarity and raise expectations of success.
